Ms JACKY HODGES

INTJ © MYERS BRIGGS

"I believe kindness is massively underrated. It requires a baseline of respect, costs nothing in the moment but can mean everything".

"I'm also a great believer in loyalty. It binds teams together and allows for creativity and provides a platform for rigorous debate. It also serves as the generator or trust".

October 2024

Core Skills Set

A seasoned risk consultant with expertise in change management, problem-solving, and stakeholder communication.

A particular specialism is working within the analysis and data modelling environments. Quantitative as well as Qualitative approaches are taken when conducting root cause investigations in order to drive informed decision-making.

Jacky has a reputation for effectively managing complex risk portfolios, fostering strong stakeholder engagement, and delivers tailored solutions that enhance business resilience as well as compliance.

Recent Projects

Jacky has recently developed a usage productivity management system for a solar power manufacturing organisation, helping to de-risk and analyse operations.

Working with a large client in the animal logistics environment is currently her primary focus. Her primary deliverables are project deconfliction and risk minimalization.

Personal

Jacky lives with her partner and two dogs. She is very much an outdoors woman. When not working she is a keen runner, completing her last full marathon in 2022. She has a love of horses and enjoys hacking out and all things equine. She is an avid reader (Thrillers are her favourites). She is also a published author, specialising in Victorian Saga. Jacky and her partner are currently upgrading a country farmhouse in their spare time. This can take up lots of time (and money!)
